Med-MetRx: Provider Profiling Review Software

Physicians are the gate keepers of prescriptions drug use. Profiling and education are fundamental to clinical and financial management in a health care organization. HID continues to set the standard for the electronic analysis of drug prescribing patterns with our newest product, Med-MetRx.

Med-MetRx will give you the ability to quickly dentify those prescribers who are candidates for educational interventions. Studies support the efficacy of targeting physician education as a means to improve quality and lower cost.

Built on decades of successful provider profiling and intervention experience, Med-MetRx incorporates input from managed care experts from around the country. The system is currently made up of five (5) key components and three (3) add-on features.

Med-MetRx's substantially reduces the time and energy required to analyze prescribing patterns. There will no longer be a need to shuffle stacks of paper; users can simply point and click to view network prescriber patterns. Is provider analysis based on your specific standards and criteria a requirement for your organization?

Med-MetRx delivers! This translates into enchanced provider buy-in based on the feedback delivered in profile reports. Gone are the days when someone else's standard must be applied to your network. You can create your own best practice standard for profiling your provider network.
